

SHENANDOAH HERALD

WOODSTOCK, VA.

[Entered at the Post Office, at Woodstock, Va., as second-class matter.]

FRIDAY, MAY 21, 1866.

GENERAL LOCAL NEWS.

Superior Liverpool Dairy salt for butter, for sale by Clover & Magruder.

The person who borrowed Senator Ridderberg's life will confer a great favor by returning it at once.

Got imported Swiss cheese, only 35¢ at Davidson & Cappers.

Mr. Elmer Landis, of Hagerstown, Md., a brakeman on the Shenandoah Valley Railroad, had one of his feet badly crushed on Saturday at Berryville, Va.

Adding the latest styles to our stock of millinery every day. Large assortment. Popular prices. J. Rhodes & Son.

Mr. Will Nash, near that place caught 5¢ fish in his wheat field one day this week.

A lot of Zinc and Dress Trunks, Traveling Bags, Satchels, &c., just received and for sale at Grubbs.

Mr. Letch Burner met with a bad streak of luck on Monday in having a young cow killed in the eat at the south end of town by the east bound 12:30 P.M. mail train.

Send a postal card for Real Estate Circulars to A. G. Wynkoop & Co., Real Estate Agents. Box 2.

$500 wanted in the next 30 days for which the highest price will paid in general merchandise. Clover & Magruder.

Fine nets, summer lap spreads, whips, buggy harness, saddles, bridles, &c., for sale at Grubbs.

Mr. Moyer, living on Narrow Passage, near the place, was bitten on the hand by a moccasin snake on Saturday. His hand was badly swollen and very painful. He went to Edinburg for medical treatment.

Look at our prices on child's carriage before purchasing. Davidson & Capper.

Call at the Woodstock Land Agency for Real Estate Circulars. A. G. Wynkoop & Co., Real Estate Agents. April 29.

The "Anderson Guards" have fitted up a convenient armory in one of the large rooms of the court house. Gun racks have been put up and numbered so that each gun can always be found in its place, while hooks for belts, cartridge boxes, bayonets, &c., have been put up with the name of each member painted over it.

The Empire Binder is the lightest, most durable and convenient whole machine, raised and lowered from driver's seat.

J. Rhodes & Son, Sammerville, Va.

Davidson & Cappers, headquarters for musical merchandise of all kinds.

Clover & Magruder's $3 show can't be surpassed anywhere in the Valley. Laced, hooks and hinges, congress and buttoned seats.

The recent high water in the river so badly injured the walls of one side and end of the large stone mill of Hotel, Smith & Co., near this place, as to endanger the building. All grinding has been stopped and the unsafe walls will be at once repaired. The expense will be considerable.

Don't fail to call at Jamison's warehouse and examine the Light Champion Steel Binder.

Farms, Mills, Factories and Town Property, for sale. A. G. Wynkoop & Co., Real Estate Agents.

Itch cured in 30 minutes by Wooford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by IRWIN, BROS. & CO., Druggists, Woodstock, Va. [Apr. 30.]

The Winchester Post published a lot of our local news without giving credit. By so doing they mixed things badly and located a number of Edinburg incidents in Woodstock.

Sann & Rhodes have an advertisement in this issue that it will pay anyone to read. They already, and will continue to sell real bargains. They don't go on the other side of Jordan for certificates but present the names of a number of our most reliable citizens.

E. STICKLEY, Committee.

Those interested who can attend please send a contribution and it shall be properly forwarded to the Treasurer of the Association.

E. S. STICKLEY.

EDINBURG NOTES.

You have seen the new store teeth, and I like a little beauty now!

Services at the Methodist church are now conducted before dark, and we are informed, it is laughable to see the young folks walk off by themselves because they can't face the music and step up to their best girls by daylight before a crowd.

Rev. J. H. Barney, who was to baptize converts last Sunday, has postponed his service until the 5th Sunday in May, when, in the grove near Mr. Daniel Bowens' there will be preaching at 12 o'clock, A. M.; baptism at 12 o'clock, M., and preaching again at 2 o'clock, P. M., with communion services. All are invited to attend.

Mr. M. A. Ashby, formerly of this place, has now an employee on the main road of the B. & O. R. R., was instantly killed by the cars on Saturday night at Mt. Airy, a station near Baltimore.

He was coupling cars at the time and by some means was run over and his body cut in two. His remains were brought to this place on Monday and interred by the side of his wife by the Masonic Fraternity of which he was a member.

No laundry soap at any price is superior to the "Valley Gem," 5cts. a cake at J. B. Clegg.

Parasols, ladies umbrellas all styles and qualities at lowest figures at J. B. Clegg's.

Two grades of white goods ranging in price from 10 to 25 cts. at J. B. Clegg's.

I will pay the highest market price for wool. J. B. Clegg.

Give more than I do for preface means to charge you extorting prices for goods. I pay the highest prices paid. J. B. Clegg.

Although but a few days since I was in Baltimore, I am already ordering supplies in order to keep on hand whatever my customers may need. Respectfully,

J. B. Clegg.

Though my stock of clothing is selling rapidly I have on hand a large supply, comprising suits for boys and youths at from $2.75 to $12.00; and for men at from $4.00 to $25.00 of all styles. If you need clothing it would pay you to call and see them. Respectfully,

J. B. Clegg.

Ladies, buy the "Queen Size" Dressing at C. F. Wightman's.

Handy Box Blanking, medium size, 6cts. at C. F. Wightman's.

Levering's best E. C. Roasted Coffee 3cts. lb. at C. F. Wightman's.

Ladies, examine my White Goods, Laundry, and Dress Gingham, before buying your summer dresses. C. F. Wightman.

Important.

When you visit or leave New York City, see George E. Chapman and Cartwright, 100 Broadway, Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot.

Elegant rooms fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, reduced to $1.00 and upwards per day.

Families can live better for less money than at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first-class hotel in the city.

Mitchell's pickles ready for table at Davidson & Cappers.

Shenandoah Valley

The best salt in the world for cuts, brines, soups, mors, salt rations, fever soups, tea, chocolate, hair salves, and all kinds of cosmetics, and positively etiles poux, or wax required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price per sack, for 50 lbs.

Mr. W. S. Miller who rendered the proper attention, closing the wound by means of a half dozen stitches. He is, however, doing well. It is with regret that we learn, that our friend, Mr. W. H. Ware, who formerly served a saw mill near Martinsburg, Shenandoah county, Va., favorably known in a large portion of the Valley, and now engaged in the lumber

STRASBURG ITEMS.

The weather for some time past has been very wet and still wet at this writing. In fact we seem to prevail largely this year so far, and is likely to continue so. The corporation of Strasburg so long out, bids fair to be succeeded by a wet reign of the affairs of this ancient borough, by a wet ticket to rule this municipality.

The merchants generally have gotten up their spring and summer supplies of goods of every description suitable for the season. All that is required now of any one is to draw their weasel skins and hand over the "ready John" to the polite and accommodating knight of the yard stick, and he will shove the package across the counter to you with a grin that would do honor to the prince of clowns.

Mr. J. E. Taylor has taken unto himself a wife. He has rented the Hescher property on Courtland Avenue and furnished and moved into it. Mr. Taylor means business and we wish him success.

The corps of lady and gentlemen performers, whose characters in the cast of the different plays and dramas selected by the manager for the grand Whitelaw entertainment, to come off in Academy Hall, are all busy studying their respective parts. The orchestra are also getting in trim by frequent rehearsals.

Resolved, That we appreciate the kindness of the citizens of Woodstock and vicinity who so willingly contributed provisions used on said occasion.

Resolved, 3d, That we are greatly indebted to the people of Woodstock and Shenandoah county for the liberal patronage extended us.

Mr. Sam. Gill, of this place, witnessed the catching of a German carp at Timberville on Friday last, which weighed 12 lbs. and 3 ozs. and measured 29 inches in length. It was caught in the river near the mouth of the creek in a dip net. Mr. Gill showed us one of the scales that measured 3 inches in length. It is supposed to have escaped from some fish pond during the recent freshets.

The recent very heavy water of the river caused some heavy damage in this neighborhood. Joseph and David Fravel had a fine piece of bottom land badly washed, about four acres of it being almost ruined.

Post-master, Mr. Edward E. McIntosh, is building a new house on South street, the wet weather has delayed the work very much. Mr. E. F. Bell, the champion earthenware man, is also building a house on the same street. Who says Strasburg is not improving?

EXCHANGE NOTES.

Strasburg News.—Mrs. Jacob Rickard, living near Fisher's Hill, fell down a staircase at her home one day last week, and broke several ribs. Under the professional care of Dr. W. S. Cline, she is rapidly improving.

Valley Virginian.—On Wednesday night last E. Yates Henkel, of Baltimore, General Superintendent of Washington Telephone Company, William C. R. Tele, manager of telephones in this city, and Henry C. Mayhew, reporter of news, after adjusting the telephone in Berryville started for home. They reached the Openon about 11 o'clock. The moon was obscured by clouds. Mayhew went down to the bank and although the creek was very high (knowing the flood) thought he could cross it safely. He returned to the wagon and so reported. All three got on the front seat and Mayhew drove down the road into the stream. Immediately after entering the horse went down over his back. Mayhew must have become frightened, as he at once threw the lines upon the animal and exclaimed, "We are all lost!" and jumped into the rear portion of the wagon. Henkel, with perfect self-possession and remarkable nerve, got out in the water, which was very deep and running with great rapidity, took hold of the horse's collar with one hand and with the other took his knife out of his pocket, opened it and began cutting the horse from the wagon. In the meantime Stump got out on same side of horse and caught hold of one of the rings which the lines were on. Through Stump had but one hand, all of this was but a few moments work, and so he seized the animal and pulled him to the tail of the horse and both were brought safely to the side, about five yards below where they entered. Both Mayhew, it is thought, drowned in the wagon, as it turned just before Henkel and Stump jumped out. The side curtain was broken by the fall and the rear part was torn by the two horses. There was 15 feet and a half between the two horses and when Mr. Henkel and Stump got out they had to get up many, having turned home, when Mr. Lang, owner of the stable, and others to the number of six, came to the rescue. The horses were led to safety and the driver of the wagon, Simon Jenkins, who had been driving, was severely injured.

Simon Jenkins, who had been driving, was severely injured.

It appears to the audience that Henkel could not more stand to see Ebenezer slide by the side of Jernada Matilda than a wagon stamp could stand a stag of thunder, so Ebenezer, observing that every time Henkel attempted to pass Jernada Matilda his throat would fill up like he had swallowed a bundle of fiddle, resolved to assist him by holding sweet converse with Matilda's returning to the apple butter afternoons. Henkel, with his good manners, addressed her in "What arithmetic?" and the victim of his wit, though she was not quite so young as Ebenezer, was soon won over to those of his own vicinity, especially, since Mr. Olivie has become the father of a son and daughter, and the mother of a son and a daughter.

Simon Jenkins, who had been driving, was severely injured.

It appears to the audience that Henkel could not more stand to see Ebenezer slide by the side of Jernada Matilda than a wagon stamp could stand a stag of thunder, so Ebenezer, observing that every time Henkel attempted to pass Jernada Matilda his throat would fill up like he had swallowed a bundle of fiddle, resolved to assist him by holding sweet converse with Matilda's returning to the apple butter afternoons. Henkel, with his good manners, addressed her in "What arithmetic?" and the victim of his wit, though she was not quite so young as Ebenezer, was soon won over to those of his own vicinity, especially, since Mr. Olivie has become the father of a son and daughter, and the mother of a son and a daughter.

It appears to the audience that Henkel could not more stand to see Ebenezer slide by the side of Jernada Matilda than a wagon stamp could stand a stag of thunder, so Ebenezer, observing that every time Henkel attempted to pass Jernada Matilda his throat would fill up like he had swallowed a bundle of fiddle, resolved to assist him by holding sweet converse with Matilda's returning to the apple butter afternoons. Henkel, with his good manners, addressed her in "What arithmetic?" and the victim of his wit, though she was not quite so young as Ebenezer, was soon won over to those of his own vicinity, especially, since Mr. Olivie has become the father of a son and daughter, and the mother of a son and a daughter.

It appears to the audience that Henkel could not more stand to see Ebenezer slide by the side of Jernada Matilda than a wagon stamp could stand a stag of thunder, so Ebenezer, observing that every time Henkel attempted to pass Jernada Matilda his throat would fill up like he had swallowed a bundle of fiddle, resolved to assist him by holding sweet converse with Matilda's returning to the apple butter afternoons. Henkel, with his good manners, addressed her in "What arithmetic?" and the victim of his wit, though she was not quite so young as Ebenezer, was soon won over to those of his own vicinity, especially, since Mr. Olivie has become the father of a son and daughter, and the mother of a son and a daughter.

It appears to the audience that Henkel could not more stand to see Ebenezer slide by the side of Jernada Matilda than a wagon stamp could stand a stag of thunder, so Ebenezer, observing that every time Henkel attempted to pass Jernada Matilda his throat would fill up like he had swallowed a bundle of fiddle, resolved to assist him by holding sweet converse with Matilda's returning to the apple butter afternoons. Henkel, with his good manners, addressed her in "What arithmetic?" and the victim of his wit, though she was not quite so young as Ebenezer, was soon won over to those of his own vicinity, especially, since Mr. Olivie has become the father of a son and daughter, and the mother of a son and a daughter.

It appears to the audience that Henkel could not more stand to see Ebenezer slide by the side of Jernada Matilda than a wagon stamp could stand a stag of thunder, so Ebenezer, observing that every time Henkel attempted to pass Jernada Matilda his throat would fill up like he had swallowed a bundle of fiddle, resolved to assist him by holding sweet converse with Matilda's returning to the apple butter afternoons. Henkel, with his good manners, addressed her in "What arithmetic?" and the victim of his wit, though she was not quite so young as Ebenezer, was soon won over to those of his own vicinity, especially, since Mr. Olivie has become the father of a son and daughter, and the mother of a son and a daughter.

It appears to the audience that Henkel could not more stand to see Ebenezer slide by the side of Jernada Matilda than a wagon stamp could stand a stag of thunder, so Ebenezer, observing that every time Henkel attempted to pass Jernada Matilda his throat would fill up like he had swallowed a bundle of fiddle, resolved to assist him by holding sweet converse with Matilda's returning to the apple butter afternoons. Henkel, with his good manners, addressed her in "What arithmetic?" and the victim of his wit, though she was not quite so young as Ebenezer, was soon won over to those of his own vicinity, especially, since Mr. Olivie has become the father of a son and daughter, and the mother of a son and a daughter.

It appears to the audience that Henkel could not more stand to see Ebenezer slide by the side of Jernada Matilda than a wagon stamp could stand a stag of thunder, so Ebenezer, observing that every time Henkel attempted to pass Jernada Matilda his throat would fill up like he had swallowed a bundle of fiddle, resolved to assist him by holding sweet converse with Matilda's returning to the apple butter afternoons. Henkel, with his good manners, addressed her in "What arithmetic?" and the victim of his wit, though she was not quite so young as Ebenezer, was soon won over to those of his own vicinity, especially, since Mr. Olivie has become the father of a son and daughter, and the mother of a son and a daughter.

It appears to the audience that Henkel could not more stand to see Ebenezer slide by the side of Jernada Matilda than a wagon stamp could stand a stag of thunder, so Ebenezer, observing that every time Henkel attempted to pass Jernada Matilda his throat would fill up like he had swallowed a bundle of fiddle, resolved to assist him by holding sweet converse with Matilda's returning to the apple butter afternoons. Henkel, with his good manners, addressed her in "What arithmetic?" and the victim of his wit, though she was not quite so young as Ebenezer, was soon won over to those of his own vicinity, especially, since Mr. Olivie has become the father of a son and daughter, and the mother of a son and a daughter.

It appears to the audience that Henkel could not more stand to see Ebenezer slide by the side of Jernada Matilda than a wagon stamp could stand a stag of thunder, so Ebenezer, observing that every time Henkel attempted to pass Jernada Matilda his throat would fill up like he had swallowed a bundle of fiddle, resolved to assist him by holding sweet converse with Matilda's returning to the apple butter afternoons. Henkel, with his good manners, addressed her in "What arithmetic?" and the victim of his wit, though she was not quite so young as Ebenezer, was soon won over to those of his own vicinity, especially, since Mr. Olivie has become the father of a son and daughter, and the mother of a son and a daughter.

It appears to the audience that Henkel could not more stand to see Ebenezer slide by the side of Jernada Matilda than a wagon stamp could stand a stag of thunder, so Ebenezer, observing that every time Henkel attempted to pass Jernada Matilda his throat would fill up like he had swallowed a bundle of fiddle, resolved to assist him by holding sweet converse with Matilda's returning to the apple butter afternoons. Henkel, with his good manners, addressed her in "What arithmetic?" and the victim of his wit, though she was not quite so young as Ebenezer, was soon won over to those of his own vicinity, especially, since Mr. Olivie has become the father of a son and daughter, and the mother of a son and a daughter.

It appears to the audience that Henkel could not more stand to see Ebenezer slide by the side of Jernada Matilda than a wagon stamp could stand a stag of thunder, so Ebenezer, observing that every time Henkel attempted to pass Jernada Matilda his throat would fill up like he had swallowed a bundle of fiddle, resolved to assist him by holding sweet converse with Matilda's returning to the apple butter afternoons. Henkel, with his good manners, addressed her in "What arithmetic?" and the victim of his wit, though she was not quite so young as Ebenezer, was soon won over to those of his own vicinity, especially, since Mr. Olivie has become the father of a son and daughter, and the mother of a son and a daughter.

It appears to the audience that Henkel could not more stand to see Ebenezer slide by the side of Jernada Matilda than a wagon stamp could stand a stag of thunder, so Ebenezer, observing that every time Henkel attempted to pass Jernada Matilda his throat would fill up like he had swallowed a bundle of fiddle, resolved to assist him by holding sweet converse with Matilda's returning to the apple